OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF

THE ELONGATED COLLECTORS

Volume XXV Number 2 APRIL, MAY, JUNE 1990

from the PRESIDENT'S DESK

The growth of our membership roll is certainly encouraging. I extend a hearty welcome to all who have recently joined our ranks. I trust that you have discovered, (or soon will), what many of our older members have known for a long time. -- Elongated coins are a fascinating and comparatively inexpensive branch of Numismatics. While most of us are still coin collectors and love the hobby as a whole, in this branch we do not get caught up in the mania of mint state grading problems. And we are certainly not bothered by the price manipulation of the investor crowd. We build our collections with minimal cost and enjoy the fun and relaxation that a hobby is supposed to provide. Further, there is enough rare and elusive material to provide the really serious collector with the thrill of the hunt, the satisfaction of the find and the pride of ownership. Also, when pursuing our other collecting interests, we can enjoy the excitement and fanfare of shows and conventions and create our own special brand of exciting happenings. What a hobby! After all, isn't that what it is supposed to be all about?

Since our last newsletter I have been in contact with all officers and directors of TEC and present the following as a review and update on happenings and plans for 1990.

TEC will definitely have a booth at the 1990 ANA Convention in Seattle, Washington with our annual meetings scheduled as usual. We hope that most of our faithful followers will be there and look forward to meeting many of our members from the western part of the country that we have never met before.

TEC will participate with the ANA on a souvenir coin project again in 1990. We will roll the Official Convention Souvenir Elongated Coin on site, and sell sets similar to those issued in 1989. A proposal for the 1990 design has been submitted to the ANA and is under consideration at the present time.

We are planning a special edition of the TEC News for the Convention again this year. Also, a special TEC coin to be rolled and handed out. Both the News (with a membership application attached), and the Giv-a-way coin have proven to be good promotional hand-outs for our organization.

Special Presidential Award Coins will be presented to deserving officers and members at our membership meeting, (in place of plaques) this year. The coins will be elongated silver quarters appropriately engraved on the reverse.

Sales for both the enameled and the regular issue 1990 convention badges have been brisk. If you haven't ordered yours yet, you should do so soon. I remind you that sales for the enameled silver badge will be cut off May 1, 1990. Only the quantity ordered by that date will be rolled. The die will then be altered and used for rolling the regular issue badge. In the past several years we have made 100 of the regular badges, and usually have 5 or 6 left over. I remind you of this also, our membership has grown and the demand should be greater this year. Enough will be made to cover all advance orders even if they exceed 100. But, only 100 will be rolled if the advance orders fall short of that quantity. Order now -- pay now or pay later. The important thing is to get your name on the order list. Help to insure against your dissatisfaction and help us to determine the quantities required. All orders should be sent to the TEC Secretary. The enameled silver badges are $20.00 each. The regular issue badges are $5.00 each. There is no limit on how many can be ordered.

The rental program for the Lee Martin video tapes on "The Elongated Collectors" and "Making a Steel Die" has been highly successful. Eleven different members have been served so far. Everyone has been exceptionally co-operative in returning them promptly. The wait by the next person on the list has been minimal.

On the planned Lending Library -- we have had offers to donate some books, but none have been received yet. We need multiple copies of the following items - "The Elongated Collector" by Dottie Dow; "Yesterday's Elongateds" by Martin and Dow; Today's Elongateds by Lee Martin; as well as other books and pamphlets by rollers such as Babin, Wagaman, Rogers, Rosato, Brazzell and others that may be in existence. If not out-right donations, a good price would be appreciated, or even a cash donation to help buy some of the more expensive items, if we can locate them. Making these books available is a must if we are to fulfill our obligation to educate a new generation of collectors. More on this later. We should be able to get this operation functional in time for an announcement in the next issue of TEC News. In the meantime, let me know what you are able to contribute.

Our order for 2x2 elongated coin holders has been placed and we are just waiting for delivery. I am so confident that they will be delivered soon, that I invite all interested members to place your orders now. Send your orders to me. The prices are: 100 for $3.50; 500 for $16.50; or 1000 for $30.00, postpaid. Because of the extreme shortage of these holders, I expect the sales to be so brisk that we will have to re-order much sooner than originally expected. However, there should be no problems on future supplies. We have made solid contact with two different sources who are anxious to fill our needs.

Our Secretary needs help! Because our membership continues to grow by leaps and bounds, the work load on the Secretary increases accordingly (especially after the first of the year when a majority of the dues pour in). It has been suggested that much work could be eliminated and considerable savings in postage could be realized if one of the following simple changes were made:

1. Require that each member furnish a self-addressed stamped envelope when paying their dues.
2. Mail membership cards and coins to each member with the dues notice envelope along with a note explaining that the membership is not valid until the dues are paid. Each member could use the same envelope to return their payment to the Secretary.

A pre-paid Life Membership package is being prepared for presentation at the annual meeting in Seattle. (More on this later.)

Big things are happening and more are planned. If you have opinions on any of the above, or other suggestions, let us know about them. Your officers are a progressive and receptive group.

Our branch of the hobby continues to get good coverage in Numismatic News, Coin World and Canadian Coin News. We have members at all three publications, who are taking good care of us. To Beth Deisher, Bob VanRyzin and Jerry Remick -- Thanks very much! Hy Brown shouldn't be over-looked either. His weekly pictorial ads bring a lot of attention our way also. Thanks Hy!

I have a busy show schedule laid out for myself this year. I have already done two shows and plan to be rolling coins at the following coming events. Central States Spring Convention in Milwaukee; Michigan State Spring Convention in Battle Creek; Maryland State Convention in Baltimore; ANA Convention in Seattle; Middle Atlantic States Convention in Virginia Beach; Michigan Masonic Home week-end celebration at Alina, Mich; The Mackinac Bridge Walk at Mackinac City, Mich; plus our local Coin Club Show and other shows in the near vicinity. I will be promoting TEC all the way. Wow! -- It makes me tired just thinking about all of the fun I am going to have. It's great to be retired!

Sick report: Gus Meccarello was planning another working vacation in Florida (about 3 months), but he came down with a bad case of shingles. It spoiled most of the time he was there.

Earlier this year I was informed that Joe Clarke had serious heart problems.

Ruth Armstrong reports that Tom hasn't been feeling well lately and that if he doesn't improve, they will not be able to attend the ANA Convention in Seattle. They haven't missed one since 1974.

With Gus in Florida and Tom and Joe living in the south, I just want to say, think of me shoveling snow here in Michigan. That should make you feel better!

Best wishes for a speedy recovery to these Old Fire Horses. I still expect to see all three of them in Seattle. Best wishes are also extended to others in poor health or with troubled minds with hopes for brighter days ahead.

Sincerely -- Ray Dillard

Notes from your editor.....

Thanks to everyone for sending articles and ads for use in the TEC News. Keem 'em coming - the sooner, the better. We try to do as much of the newsletter as possible, as soon as we get the articles and ads in, so we don't have to do it all at one time. So, it helps to have your information in as soon as possible.

The following was seen in "Scrip Talk", (another newsletter we receive): "The FOUR MAIN BONES of any organization are: The WISHBONE - wishing somebody would do something about it; the JAWBONE - doing all the talking, but nothing else; the KNUCKLEBONE - that knocks everything that is done; and the BACKBONE - that carries the load and does the work!!" Which category do you fit in? One thing we've noticed about the TEC - we certainly seem to have quite a BACKBONE! Keep up the good work!

If you have pennies you'd like to donate for any upcoming issue of the TEC, please let us know. Everyone's been very generous so far. It's great to be able to share your design with all the membership.

Until next time.....Jim Singleton, Editor

JUNIOR MEMBER CORNER

We hope to get you involved with the hobby by giving you a corner to address your questions to. Also we will feature some of the subjects you would like covered. So Junior Members, write us! We need your input.

SETTING UP YOUR COLLECTION

Everyone has a system, and all have their reasons for doing it their way. Setting up your collection is really a personal choice--but one I've adopted and like is quite easy. Using a regular 3 ring loose leaf binder, I purchased some coin pocket pages from the coin store along with some special 2x2 holders. Placing the elongated coins in the holders allows you to keep your collection visible on both sides and protects them from most of the elements. The pages allow you to group them in to various categories holidays, series, famous people, events, historical etc. If you have a special way of doing yours why not share it with us?

SOMEONE YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT

FRANK BRAZZELL - Past TEC President, is a man who has given much to TEC and the elongated hobby. He has done it all. He makes the machine, designs and engraves the die and rolls the coins. He has improved the process and shared it by producing some very special elongates. Check your coins - you may have one already.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

I hope some of you will take the time to write me and let me help you learn more about elongated coins. I'm still quite new to the hobby and will be learning with you. Next newsletter we will feature how to design a coin. Lets hear from you. Just write to Ginnie Wilkinson, 5700 Flagler St. Metairie, LA 70003.

Celebrate the 100th anniversary of the United Mine Workers of America. Elongated coin rolled on a piece of West Virginia Coal Company scrip tokens. $2.50 each, plus SASE, or three for $5.00 plus SASE. Jim Singleton, P.O. Box 41, Hugheston, WV 25110.

ELONGATED DIE MANUFACTURING OPTIONS AND PRICE LIST

OPTION # 1 $55.00

We will paste up your artwork, photograph the positive, and engrave your die.

Inform us how you want it to look, and exactly what you want it to say. Supply any specific artwork or logo desired (line drawings work best). Remember, when designing your elongated, the fewer the words, the larger and easier to read. The tendency is to try and include too much information on the coin. This makes it hard or impossible to read, and difficult to sell. If you want to proof (recommended) before engraving, enclose a large SASE. After the artwork is approved, you will have your die in approximately two weeks. Dies can be produced in dime, cent, nickel, or quarter sizes. Unless otherwise requested they will be cent size.

OPTION # 2 $45.00

We photograph your artwork, make the positive, and engrave the die. You supply photo ready artwork drawn in a 5" by 9" oval. If you would like us to supply a border design, enclose a large SASE. We have oval, dot, micro dot, arrows, or rope borders. Please request only one type. Remember, the die will look exactly as drawn, only much smaller.

OPTION # 3 $40.00

We engrave the die. You supply the positive in 1 1/4" size for a cent size die. These are easy to have made by going to a silk screening shop, with your artwork, and ask them to make a 1 1/4" positive. The cost for this should be around $5.00 each, less if you have more than one made.

OPTION # 4

This is used in addition to any of the above options, but includes rolling the elongateds, for those of you who don't have a rolling machine. Price rolled on cents is, $15.00 per hundred with blank reverse, or $20.00 per hundred with stained reverse. Other denominations P.O.R.

Custom artwork by our professional artist, with years of elongated experience, is also available. All of our original artwork, has been, and is done, by this artist. We need only an idea of what you want drawn, or modified to the elongated shape, including wording required. (see option #1 on wording) Artwork modification is especially useful when simply reducing a picture, or logo, doesn't produce esthetically pleasing, or legible results. Although we change the design to fit the elongated shape, it remains basically the same. We can develop your logo, or design your artwork for enameling. Custom artwork is expensive, and difficult to have drawn properly for the desired effect. Call around your area for price quotes. We offer this service for only $60.00 on most designs. The better your artwork, the more sales you will make!

This service requires approximately 10 days extra; plan ahead.

We have steel rolls for $40.00 each. You may furnish your own or any other steel shape you use.

When ordering include as much information as possible; and your phone number in case we need to discuss your order. Above all, remember the less clutter, the better.

Send orders, and make checks payable to: Bert Samsa, P.O. BOX 281, Carlsborg, WA. 98324

Any questions, give us a call at (206) 683-1735

Elongatedly yours,

Bert Samsa

A Maverick

By Allen Curtis TEC 1442

A MAVERICK has joined the TEC Club. Is he Bret, Bart, or Beau? No, the maverick's name is Bun - Allen "Bun" Curtis. That is, the maverick is I, the author of this article. I'm a maverick because my first and foremost hobby is NOT elongated coin collecting, but instead is using, programming, and writing about home and personal computers.

How did such a maverick gain entry to the TEC membership rolls? Last fall I purchased by mail a pair of elongated coins from a fellow Virginian and TEC Historian, Ginnie Aldridge. Besides filling my order, she wrote me an extremely enthusiastic and most friendly letter along with a TEC application blank. I thought that any organization that inspires such enthusiasm and has such fine people is a must for me, and I signed up immediately.

A week or so later I received my first TEC NEWS along with letters from Ray Dillard and Ginnie Wilkinson, TEC President and Secretary, respectively. All were very informative and interesting. Learning from the letters what literature there is about elongated coins, I decided that my first adventure in this new (for me) hobby would be a search for three books - Dottie Dow's "The Elongated Collector", "Yesterday's Elongateds" by Dottie Dow and Lee Martin, and "Today's Elongateds" by Lee Martin.

Seeing an ad by former TEC President Frank Brazzell for a set of baseball elongated cents, brought back fond memories of my youth when I had a small collection of baseball trading cards. I also wondered whether almost legendary TEC leader Sally Kirka had ever incorporated baseball cards into her PNC's. If so, they must have been wonderful to behold. Anyway, I ordered the set of baseball elongateds and at the same time asked Frank whether he could give me any clues as to where the aforementioned three books could be purchased.

I was well pleased with Frank's baseball elongateds and greatly appreciated his informing me that TEC Vice President Gus Meccarello had been selling such elongated coin literature and might still have some available. Gus not only had "Yesterday's Elongateds" and "Today's Elongateds", he had them in both soft and hard covers. Thanks to Frank and Gus, I am now the proud owner of hard cover copies of both books. They are in mint condition and are autographed by Lee Martin. When I purchased these excellent books, Gus generously gave me Lloyd Wagaman's fine 44 page booklet, "The Elongated Coin". Thanks, Gus.

Finding that "Yesterday's Elongateds" includes the contents of Dottie Dow's "The Elongated Collector", I knew with amazing suddenness that my book quest was over - thanks to the thoughtfulness and friendliness of TEC members.

Armed with these books, I feel that I can start collecting elongateds in earnest with more assurance, knowledge, and some of the TEC owl's wisdom at the expense of becoming less of a maverick.

The Jamestown Tercentennial Exposition of 1907

By Allen Curtis

In the Apr.-May-June, 1980 (Vol. XV, No. 2) issue of TEC NEWS, Ginnie Aldridge wrote of the discovery of Jamestown and her discovery of an unlisted Jamestown Exposition elongated. The elongated was subsequently listed in "Yesterday's Elongateds" as VIR-JTE 9. Depicted on the coin was St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Ginnie's researches revealed that St. Paul's is a famous Norfolk, Virginia church. Ginnie was puzzled by the fact that a Norfolk church rather than one from Jamestown would be pictured on a Jamestown Exposition coin.

Ginnie went to the 1957 Jamestown Festival in Jamestown near Jamestown Island. Viewing the built-up area in 1957 with the easy access to and from it via the Colonial Parkway, she apparently assumed that the Tercentenary was held in the same place 50 years earlier. Surprisingly, this was not the case.

In March of 1902, there was passed in the Virginia general Assembly a bill that granted a charter for an exposition company. A condition of the charter was that one million dollars had to be subscribed by January 1, 1904. The exposition company planners quickly eliminated Jamestown as a site for the proposed 1907 festival because of inadequate housing and transportation facilities anywhere in the vicinity. A large delegation of prominent Tidewater area citizens convinced the General Assembly that the exposition should be held in the Hampton Roads area. Subscribing the necessary million dollars was no easy task despite the solid backing of Tidewater communities. On December 31, 1903, the last possible day, the subscription finally reached the one million dollar mark and work on the Exposition could begin.

340 acres of mostly swampy land at Seawalls Point was purchased. With great difficulty a miniature city was built there. They had to construct a 10 mile boulevard to Norfolk for access to and from the city and install power and water lines. The job was so enormous that in 1906 a Congressional bill was passed to authorize a million and half dollars for federal governmental participation - military quarters, piers, and maintaining armed forces on the grounds.

Similar to other expositions of that era, many of the states and several nations erected buildings for showing off their achievements. Many sideshows lined the midway of the 1907 Exposition. In a theater there was a re-enactment of the Civil War battle between the ironclads, the Monitor and the Merrimac. The original battle had taken place off Hampton Roads. The battle re-enactment undoubtedly inspired the rolling of the elongated VIR-TJE 5, Merrimac and Monitor Duel showing the two warships. Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show was another sideshow attraction. In a large auditorium Mark Twain entertained overflow audiences. This auditorium could well be the one pictured on VIR-JTE 3. In another show a performer called Captain Bosco regularly gave a spiel about raising the battleship Maine out of Havana Harbor. Perhaps, the captain's spiel was the inspiration for VIR-JTE 6 and 6a, U.S. Battleship. Days were assigned to each nation and state as a means of stimulating attendance. On Virginia Day there was a great military parade, a naval pageant, and an aquacade. This high point of the Exposition may have led to the rolling of elongated VIR-JTE 7, Battleship Virginia.

Ten years after the Exposition there was little evidence remaining at the festival grounds that it had been held there. Some buildings fell into ruin and others were demolished. The lawns had become jungles. The day after President Wilson requested Congress to declare war against Germany (April 6, 1917) the Navy gained possession of the area. Thus the Norfolk Naval Base had its beginnings.

The purpose of this article was to unravel Ginnie Aldridge's puzzle of why a Norfolk church was pictured on a Jamestown Tercentennial Exposition elongated. It is now clear that the Exposition was held in Norfolk instead of Jamestown. St. Paul's Episcopal Church was a famous Norfolk landmark and a likely subject for an elongated coin: VIR-JTE 9.

The information about the 1907 Jamestown Exposition was gathered from a special edition of the Virginia Gazette published for the 1957 Jamestown Festival.

Researching and writing this article has stimulated my interest in VIT-JTE elongates. I just wish I had some.

"ITALIAN PAVILION"

by John G. Spadone

In 1934 Chicago World Fair, (The Century of Progress International Exposition), we have on record that there were 25 Penny Stamping (Elongated) Machines operating and owned by J.F. Cornelius.

I will start with number one machine, the "Italian Pavilion" which is listed as C.P.I.E. 33 and consists of four varieties. The Pavilion was located Southwest of the North Lagoon and was a free attraction. It had an impressive entrance under a large gleaming aircraft wing. The building with the word "Italia" in teh front contained extensive exhibits that portrayed the progress of Italy.

In the 1934 Exposition, two larger extensions were built on each side for more exhibition space. Modern bronze Italian sculptures were placed on the lawn near the entrance. One of the largest dramatic mural painting was in the main Rotunda and showed the Government Control of Transportation on Land, Air and Sea. The reclamation of 11,000 square miles of land and 50% increase of Italy's wheat production was shown. In addit6ion, the photo murals illustrated the historical and scenic beauties of Italy. The products of Italy and it's colonies are seen in the Bazaar Annexes. Italion restaurants with in and outdoor tables, proveded on orchestra for dancing. The wine Pavilion displayed wines of each Italion Province.

The complete Venetion Glass Factory (admission charged), a circular building was north of the Pavilion. There were ten Italion artist-craftsmen at work, blowing molten glass, producing glass art products for which Venice is famous.

The Gladioli Gardens displayed beautiful rare gladioli, growing outdoors in a landscape setting besides the lagoon. Number 16 was the official site location on the map.

Having the C.P.I.E. 33m the "Italian Pavilion" is great, but it's far more interesting and enjoyable hobby to know more about the souvenir elongate, as if you were there, and know what it represents, the art, customs, progress, products, food, etc. of the Italian people. Any comments, corrections, additions, on this subject will be greatly appreciated. Write to John G. Spadone, 4872 NW 171 Ter., Miami, Fla. 33055-4260.

THE GREAT SEAL OF ILLINOIS

Our thanks to Mr. F. North Ross for his donation of the elongated coin included with this issue of the TEC News, and for the following information concerning the design.

The present Great Seal of Illinois was authorized by the General Assembly on March 7, 1867, but was not used until October 26, 1868, and an unusual situation is involved in the history of the seal.

According to Brand Whitlock, famous author, the first of all the seals used for official documents in what is now Illinois, was that of 1788.

It was known as "The Seal of the Territory of the U.S.N.W. of the Ohio River". The words were within two concentric circles. The center of the seal showed a river, on which rode two canoes, with woodland showing beyond the river.

In 1800, when Indiana Territory, which included Illinois, was created, a new seal was needed. This situation was met by duplicating the seal of the Northwest Territory, the only change being the substitution of the words "Indiana Territory" within the circles.

When Illinois Territory came into existence in 1809, still another seal was required. So the fathers made an almost exact copy of the Great Seal of the United States, merely eliminating the "E Pluribus Unum". This seal was first used on February 4, 1810.

When Illinois gained Statehood in 1818, the second session of the First General Assembly decreed on February 19, 1819, that it was the duty of the Secretary of State to procure a permanent State seal, as was to be agreed upon by the Governor-Shadrach Bond-and the Justices of the Supreme Court-Thomas C. Browne, William P. Foster, Joseph Phillips, John Reynolds and William Wilson. The new seal was another duplicate of the United States seal, but differed from the preceding seal of the Territory in that the Eagle held a scroll in its beak on which were the words of the State motto, "State Sovereignty-National Union". As previously, the eagle held a bunch of arrows in one talon, an olive branch in the other, with the escutcheon on its chest. This seal was recut about 1839 and remained in use until October, 1868.

Secretary of State Sharon Tyndale brought about the creation of the seal which exists today. Tyndale, in January 1867, told Senator Allen C. Fuller that the old seal had outlived its usefulness, that a new one was necessary, and asked Fuller to sponsor a bill to change it. The bill was presented to the Senate January 7, 1867, and passed without comment. It went to the House and when read there on January 10th, Assemblyman Dinsmore from Whiteside County suggested an amendment to read that the new seal was to be "an exact facsimile of the present seal."

The amendment was defeated 31 to 46.

Dinsmore's beaten amendment created immediate suspicion of the bill. It was recalled to the Senate. The vote that approved the bill was reconsidered. It was discovered that Tyndale planned in the new seal to reverse the wording on the scroll, changing it from "State Sovereignty, National Union" to "Nation Union, State Sovereignty". The recent Civil War, he believed, put national union above state sovereignty. But the change that he contemplated was thwarted by a Senate Amendment which ruled that the words on the scroll of the renewed seal were to correspond with the old seal in every particular.

The bill was passed March 7, 1867 in its amended form.

The old seal continued in use until its last official imprint on October 24, 1868, and final impressions were sharp and clear, indicating it was not "badly out of order" as had been claimed by

The new seal, which is the present one and which was designed by Tyndale, is a radical departure from the old. When it first appeared, and all through the years since, the reasons for the inside design, made at Tyndale's direction, have puzzled many beholders.

The shield not longer adorns the eagle's breast, but is in a tilted position on the ground; the arrows are gone; the branch bears little resemblance to an olive branch; the eagle is sitting on a boulder in a prairie, and a rising sun shines on a distant Eastern horizon. Strangest of all, the wording on the seal ignores the amendment and "National Union" appears above "State Sovereignty".

The Secretary of State is the keeper of the Great Seal of the State of Illinois.

Seal of the Illinois Territory, sketched by the late Mr. Brand Whitlock and reproduced in the Journal of the Illinois Historical Society.

First Great Seal, adopted after Statehood. August 26, 1818 appears on the official State Seal to commemorate the date that the first Constitution for the State of Illinois was signed by the Constitutional Convention delegates at Kaskaskia.

Second Great Seal of the State of Illinois. While this design differed from the first Seal, it remained unchanged in a heraldic sense.

Present Great Seal bearing altered design introduced in 1968. This design is far removed in meaning from that of the original Seal.

Thanks for the following tip for elongated coin rollers from Mr. Penny Pincher, D.L. Kitsmiller:

After your design is complete (for your elongate), and before sending it to the engraver, reduce the final design on a copy machine to one and one quarter inch. That will be the approximate size of the finished coin and will let you see if the lettering will be readable, and how much of the fine detail will be lost in engraving.

Passing of a Friend
by
"Doug" Fairbanks, Sr.

Recently I was informed (by his son), of the death of a good mail-friend and fellow elongated coin collector, O. Wilson Morgan, due to a massive heart attack. We had had numerous trade deals in the past, and his witty, humorous letters will be sorely missed. Because of failing eye-sight, he had turned in his driver's license, and loved to hitch-hike around the country. This provided him with many interesting tales. Although he never would reveal what the "O" in O. Wilson Morgan stood for, he kept saying "someday I'll let you know". Guess now I will never know. One of his favorite acts; prior to moving from Florida to Indiana, was to tell about sitting on his back porch tossing marshmallows into the mouth of a "friendly" 'gator. He also enjoyed fishing, and the hobby of elongated coin collecting.

He will truly be missed.

TWO BARBED WIRE BORDER ELONGATEDS
by
JACK WILCOX, TEC #332

My Nov. 1989 EX-POW BULLETIN has an article featuring four POW medals discovered in a Chicago area estate sale. The medals depict Stalag Luft III and Stalag VII A Germany with a 1945 date. Stalag Luft means camp for Airmen. I spent time in Stalag VII A when first brought to Germany via boxcar from a barbed wire open air camp in Capua, Italy after my capture near Kasserine Pass Tunisia, North Africa on Feb. 17, 1943. My very first plane ride was with the German Air Force from Tunis to Italy. Reading about the newly discovered POW medals brought back memories and thoughts of making another EX-POW elongated. My last effort was back in 1986, so it was time.

Our American Ex-Prisoners of War, Inc. will celebrate it's 50th anniversary in 1992, so I decided to use this for a souvenir heading and incentive. I didn't want to hold off this project now the mood was right, so got to work.

Using a drawing from my old POW Logbook of the inventive cooking stove or "blower" (made from tin cans), used in Stalag III B where I spent most of my captivity, I copied it off, cut it out and placed my lettering within a barbed wire border. This design best rolled horizontal way. Drawing isn't my game but his really was simple to do.

Next I thought a vertical design would be best for what material came to mind for the second elongated. I took photos of a small POW Doll I have and used the best one which I cut out and placed in my rough sketch. Problem was the hands on the doll don't move and Frank Brazzell had to create a hand salute for me. Placing the lettering was simple, so design two came to order. You can see by my brief tale above how these two Barbed Wire elongateds will be nice to add into my two years with the Germans. The uniform on the POW doll I often use now at reunions and Ex-POW meetings, etc. Working up the two themes proved to be easy, and the finished product very pleasing.

My elongateds are available for $1.00 each plus SASE, of course, for those interested. Hopefully I can attend our POW 1992 Convention which will be in Frank Brazzell's state of Indiana, where Frank made my designs come to light. My address is 310 Washington Pl, North Brunswick, NJ 08902-3044.

REPLICAS

by Ronald E. Garrett

Another interesting hobby. Take the Brasher Doubloon. The original was minted in 1787 and the original's value is extremely rare due to no established value. The replica comes into play. People can afford replicas. They look good, like an original but usually not made of same metal and size. People can enjoy the history of a coin and its own designed beauty and whatever else, except value. But who places value on items; supply and demand; we all know that. Where very few exist, value is usually up.

Back in 1787 most colonists were so poor they had little need for gold coinage but it was desirable for the big transactions of business in those days. Ephraim Brasher, a goldsmith in New York, who was George Washington's neighbor, struck a gold piece in 1787. It has turned out to be the most famous piece brought out before the establishment of the Mint in Philadelphia.

The Brasher Doubloon weighed 408 grains; was equivalent to a Spanish doubloon and was worth $16.00. Today an original Doubloon probably would be insured for around $250,000.00.

You never know when or where a rarity will pop up. It may never be worth a tenth of what the Doubloon may be worth, but there will be great value. One of a kind is important as long as the total number of mintage isn't too high. Good area to collect. Hobbies, Collections, Interesting.....

I wish to thank all those who wrote to me since our last newsletter. And to those who purchased elongated coins from me. Thank you both. Write - Garretts' Coin, P.O. Box 5008, Mesa, Arizona 85201
